3. High-level panel on the implementation of gender equality plans in the framework of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

Over the past few years, the governments of Latin America and the Caribbean have made increasing efforts to overcome obstacles to the full incorporation of women under equal conditions in all spheres of social, cultural and economic life in the countries. This has led to a number of different public policy measures and proposals.

Accordingly, the countries of the region have designed and implemented gender equality plans, spearheaded by machineries for women's advancement. These plans constitute important policy and planning tools that reflect both existing challenges and the commitment of the States to overcoming them. This theme will be analysed by a high-level panel comprising ministers and authorities of gender machineries of the region whose equality plans are at different stages of implementation.
