LIST OF NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS HAVING CONSULTATIVE STATUS

Non-governmental organizations having consultative status with the Economic and Social Council are generally placed in either category A or B or carried on the register of the Secretary-General. Category A organizations are those considered to have a basic interest in most of the activities of the Council and are closely linked with the economic and social life of the areas which they represent. Category B organizations are those considered to have a special competence and to be concerned specifically with only a few fields of activities covered by the Council. Those carried on the register of the Secretary-General generally have specialized interests of a type that does not require that they remain in continuous consultative relationship. They may, however, be called in for ad hoc consultations as appropriate. A listing of organizations by these classifications follows.
