REGIONAL PROGRAMME OF ACTION FOR THE WOMEN OF LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN, 1995-2001

United Nations
Santiago, Chile, 1995
The Regional Programme of Action for the Women of Latin America and the Caribbean, 1995-2001, contained in this publication, was adopted by the member States during the sixth session of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean, held at Mar del Plata, Argentina, from 25 to 29 September 1994 (LC/G.1850/(CRM.67)). The strategic actions intended to complement the Programme were adopted during the twentieth meeting of the Presiding Officers of the Regional Conference—in which all the member States were invited to participate—, held at ECLAC headquarters in Santiago, Chile, from 16 to 18 November 1994 (LC/L.872(MDM.20/3)).

The issuance of this publication was made possible by the collaboration of the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM).
CONTENTS

RESOLUTION ......................................................... 7

A. BACKGROUND ...................................................... 9

B. RATIONALE OF THE PROGRAMME .............................. 13

C. CORE OBJECTIVE OF THE PROGRAMME ..................... 15

D. STRATEGIC AREAS ............................................... 17

  Area I: Gender equity ............................................. 19
  Area II: Economic and social development with a gender perspective: women’s equitable share in the decisions, responsibilities and benefits of development .......... 22
  Area III: Elimination of poverty among women ............... 35 Area IV: Women’s equitable participation in decision-making and in the exercise of power in public and private life .... 42
  Area V: Human rights, peace and violence .................... 46
  Area VI: Shared family responsibilities ...................... 53
  Area VII: Recognition of cultural plurality in the region .... 56
  Area VIII: International support and cooperation .......... 61

E. FOLLOW-UP ACTIVITIES FOR THE REGIONAL PROGRAMME OF ACTION FOR THE WOMEN OF LATIN AMERICA
    AND THE CARIBBEAN, 1995-2001 ........................... 65
RESOLUTION ON THE REGIONAL PROGRAMME OF ACTION FOR THE WOMEN OF LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN, 1995-2001

The Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean, Endorsing the content of the Regional Plan of Action for the Integration of Women into Latin American Economic and Social Development (Havana, 1977); the Nairobi Forward-looking Strategies for the Advancement of Women (Nairobi, 1985); the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women; and the resolutions on women adopted since 1985 by the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly,

Taking into account resolution No. 1 on a new regional plan of action, adopted at the fifth session of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean (Curaçao, 1991),

Also taking into account the recommendations formulated at the meetings of the Presiding Officers elected at the fifth session of the Regional Conference,

Considering the new proposals of ECLAC contained in the resolutions adopted by its member countries for the 1990s, which express the need to take an integrated approach to development in order to achieve the objectives of changing production patterns with social equity, including gender equity,

On the understanding that the new Regional Programme of Action does not replace any of the instruments already in force, but rather seeks to complement them by reflecting the changes observed in the region and their impact on women and by setting forth a basic package of priority activities for Latin America and the Caribbean that can be carried out in the next five years, Recommends the adoption of the new Regional Programme of Action for the Women of Latin America and the Caribbean, 1995-2001.

* ECLAC, Report of the Fifth Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean (LC/G.1684(CRM.5/6)), Santiago, Chile, 12 November 1991.

 The reservations entered by countries are set forth in the report of the sixth session of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean (LC/G.1850(CRM.6/7)). In the present text, they are indicated in footnotes.
A. BACKGROUND

This document was elaborated on the basis of resolution No. 1 of the fifth session of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean (Curaçao, 1991) (ECLAC, 1991), the guidelines put forward by the Presiding Officers of the Regional Conference (ECLAC, 1992a, 1992b, 1993a, 1993b, 1994a), the inputs of the Meetings of Specialized Agencies and Other Bodies of the United Nations System (ECLAC, 1992c, 1993c, 1993d), the recommendations of the meeting of experts, the comments of the Presiding Officers of the Regional Conference and the special contributions of the International Conference on Central American Refugees (CIRFCA), the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the Inter-American Institute for Cooperation on Agriculture (IICA), the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the International Labour Organization (ILO) and the Pan American Health Organization (PAHO).

This Programme of Action is not intended to replace the instruments already in force,* but rather to complement them by reflecting the changes observed in the region and their impact on women and by setting forth a basic package of priority activities for Latin America and the Caribbean that can be carried out in the next five years.

The backdrop for this Programme in the 1990s is one of economic progress in many countries of the region, accompanied by the persistence and intensification of serious problems of poverty and extreme poverty, aggravated by the debt crisis, structural adjustment programmes and social backwardness. For example, since the crisis of the 1980s, income distribution has been more inequitable in Latin America and the Caribbean than anywhere else in the world (ECLAC, 1993f) and the region has suffered a decline in economic and social investment which is affecting the quality of education, health and housing and of the basic services provided to large segments of the population (ECLAC, 1993f, 1990 and 1994b).

* The main instruments in force are considered to be the Regional Plan of Action for the Integration of Women into Latin American Economic and Social Development (Havana, 1977), the Nairobi Forward-looking Strategies for the Advancement of Women (Nairobi, 1985), the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and the resolutions on the subject adopted since 1985 by the Economic and Social Council and the General Assembly of the United Nations.
The persistence of poverty and extreme poverty in Latin America and the Caribbean is linked to the enormous debt burden in many of its countries and territories, which has propelled them into formally or informally adopting structural adjustment policies with stringent conditionalities. This has impacted negatively on the region’s capacity to invest adequately in the human development and institutional resources needed to confront the spread of poverty. For women, the combined effect of the debt burden and adjustment measures has also been to increase their productive and reproductive work, with deep implications for their economic, physical and social well-being.¹

This situation has arisen simultaneously with the globalization of the world economy, the internationalization of communications and impressive technological advances. Despite the significant progress made in other areas, the pre-eminence of the market as the primary mechanism of resource allocation has been unable to correct deep-rooted economic, political, cultural and social inequalities.

In this context of globalization, interdependence and swift technological change, social issues can no longer be separated from economic growth and scientific and technological development, nor can they any longer be considered secondary concerns. Experience shows that accelerated economic growth does not necessarily lead to higher levels of well-being for the entire population, and that it can often accentuate social inequality and marginalization. It is therefore essential to devise new answers based on an integrated approach that addresses all aspects of development simultaneously: growth, equity, environmental sustainability, security, solidarity, participation, peace and respect for human rights.

In the political sphere, the 1990s have witnessed a renewed emphasis on democratic principles, the concept of citizenship and individual rights, accompanied by the emergence of new social actors, efforts at consensus-building and a growing questioning of political leaders.

Studies on the situation of women have confirmed that the structural inequality of society persists, as manifested by the lack of opportunities and access to employment, basic services, power and decision-making at all hierarchical levels, and by the persistence of educational content which reinforces stereotyped sexual roles in textbooks and curricula —making it more difficult to exercise reproductive rights— and the weakness of mechanisms for promoting the advancement of women. This structural inequality is compounded by a deterioration of living conditions for the majority of women, of all ages and ethnic groups; the increase in migration; and the growth of the informal sector of the economy, in which more and more women are forced to work because of the crisis of the 1980s, a situation which is becoming worse in some of the subregions, especially in rural areas.

In some subregions, migration of women has increased along with the longer-standing migration of men in search of employment. Rural stagnation, family dislocation and homeless children are some of the consequences of the uprooting of family members. Furthermore, the global recession has made it very difficult for new migrants to sustain a livelihood.

¹ The United States delegation entered a reservation with respect to this paragraph.

The above has prompted a calling into question as to whether greater participation of women in public life is due to structural changes. Such changes should lead to a real opening-up of new opportunities and thus to effective equality of women and men in society, and ensure just conditions for the promotion and participation of women, without discrimination on grounds of sex, race or ethnic group, and the appropriate social and economic changes.

In recent years, the new concept of gender equity has been developed as a means of approaching this problem; though not yet an object of consensus, it is a dynamic idea that is still evolving and that represents a basic contribution to the analysis of women's position in society. The gender inequalities in the economic, political, social and cultural spheres have arisen from the biological differences between the sexes in terms of reproduction.

Actions taken to improve the situation of women must scrupulously reflect the principle that biological differences should not lead to social inequalities.

The new proposals which the member countries of ECLAC are adopting for the 1990s assert the need for an integrated approach to development (ECLAC, 1990) that reconciles the differences between economic and social policies and addresses the various facets of social equity in such a way as to promote the emergence of democratic, productive societies in the region. This process requires complementarity between economic and social policies, educational reform, the strengthening of health services, investment in human resources, assurance of environmental sustainability, modernization of institutions and democratic consensus-building on equitable growth. In pursuing these objectives, countries should take the gender dimension into account and recognize the right of women to the full exercise of citizenship.

These proposals, in order to be effectively implemented, require a conceptualization of development centered on human beings and their needs, which cannot be dealt with through the logic of the market.

The building of full citizenship for women — i.e., development of the capacity for self-determination, the expression and representation of interests and demands, and the full exercise of individual and collective rights — is a still unfinished task in Latin America and the Caribbean, notwithstanding the progress which some countries have made in this area. Only if women are actively incorporated into public life can their societies benefit from the important contribution that women can make, not only to meet their own economic, social and cultural needs but also to contribute as full-fledged citizens. This incorporation should be carried out on the basis of forms of political representation that reflect a concept of development which does not ignore private life and considers gender differences.

The Programme of Action takes into account not only the regional context, but also the more specific framework of recent and forthcoming regional forums, so as to incorporate the topic into a wider agenda. Particular consideration has been given to the

In accordance with this background, the Regional Programme of Action for the Women of Latin America and the Caribbean, 1995-2001, revolves around eight priority areas: gender equity; economic and social development with a gender perspective: women’s equitable share in the decisions, responsibilities and benefits of development; elimination of poverty; women’s equitable participation in decision-making and in the exercise of power in public and private life; human rights, peace and violence; shared family responsibilities; recognition of cultural plurality in the region; and international support and cooperation.

The Regional Programme of Action puts forward a minimum set of measures on which consensus has been reached and which form a systemic whole; i.e., the strategies complement each other, and if they are to yield the expected results their implementation must be coordinated. The Programme is aimed at improving the status of all women in the region, regardless of their age, particularly rural women and those belonging to different population groups, such as indigenous, black, disabled and uprooted women.
B. RATIONALE OF THE PROGRAMME

In 1975, the countries represented at the World Conference of the International Women’s Year, held at Mexico City, adopted the first international instrument for systematically promoting women’s integration into development: the World Plan of Action.

In view of the differences between the various regions, the States Members of the United Nations decided on that occasion that the above-mentioned instrument should be complemented with regional guidelines. In 1977, the member countries of ECLAC formulated and adopted at Havana the Regional Plan of Action for the Integration of Women into Latin American Economic and Social Development. They also decided to establish a permanent intergovernmental forum to address that issue, the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean, which would meet every three years to evaluate the progress made in implementing the Regional Plan of Action and to offer guidelines for future action.

Two more world conferences on women were held: one at Copenhagen in 1980, at which the participants elaborated the Programme of Action for the Second Half of the United Nations Decade for Women, and one at Nairobi in 1985, at which the Nairobi Forward-looking Strategies for the Advancement of Women were adopted. The Strategies, which were based on the 1975 Plan and the 1980 Programme, became the primary world-wide instrument in this field, further enriching the 1977 Plan of Action for Latin America and the Caribbean, the regional counterpart of the Strategies.

In 1991, the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean recommended, at its fifth session (Curaçao), that a regional programme of action for 1995-2001 should be elaborated to complement the aforementioned instruments, taking into account the changes observed in the region during the 1980s and the need for supplementary action to accelerate the processes under way.

In General Assembly resolution 45/129, Economic and Social Council resolution 1990/12 and Commission on the Status of Women resolution 36/8A, the States Members of the United Nations recommended that the Fourth World Conference on Women should be held at Beijing in 1995 and that a Platform for Action should be elaborated for 1995-2001. This Regional Programme of Action for 1995-2001 therefore constitutes both an output of the sixth session of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean (Mar del Plata, 1994) and an input to the Fourth World Conference on Women (Beijing, 1995), and reflects the priorities of the Latin American and Caribbean member countries for the next five years.
C. CORE OBJECTIVE OF THE PROGRAMME

To expedite the achievement of gender equity and the complete integration of women into the development process, together with the full exercise of citizenship in the framework of sustainable development with social justice and democracy.
D. STRATEGIC AREAS

Area I: Gender equity
Area II: Economic and social development with a gender perspective: women's equitable share in the decisions, responsibilities and benefits of development
Area III: Elimination of poverty among women
Area IV: Women's equitable participation in decision-making and in the exercise of power in public and private life
Area V: Human rights, peace and violence
Area VI: Shared family responsibilities
Area VII: Recognition of cultural plurality in the region
Area VIII: International support and cooperation
AREA I: GENDER EQUITY

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Cultural, political, legal and economic contexts, as well as social, economic and educational practices that perpetuate inequality between women and men.

b) Insufficient awareness among women and men of gender discrimination and of the need to stop it.

b') Difficulties encountered by women and their organizations in joining forces on the basis of their needs and proposals.

c) Insufficient political will to ensure the full participation of women in the economic and social development process.

d) Lack of macroeconomic policies which take gender equity into account and are based on the effective participation of women and men in society.

e) Limited capacity of public and private institutions to develop agendas that include gender concerns.

f) Insufficient institutional strength of public entities responsible for women’s issues.

g) Precarious linkages among Governments, non-governmental women’s organizations and international agencies with respect to the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of gender policies.

h) Insufficient linkage between women’s organizations and the institutions of society and the State.

i) The failure to recognize and value the unremunerated work which women carry out in agriculture, food production, child-rearing and household activities, and the failure to adequately support this work.

j) Insufficient research on women’s situation and participation in all areas throughout their lives, as well as insufficient data disaggregated by sex.

k) Limited exchange of information, communication and collaboration with respect to women’s issues among Governments, non-governmental organizations and the private sector.

l) Scarcity of statistics disaggregated by sex.
Progress

a) Growing emphasis on citizenship and individual rights and greater respect for diversity in democratic societies, factors which are enabling women to participate as social agents.

b) Women’s heightened awareness of their rights, and strengthening of their organizations and bargaining power.

c) An increase in the number of academic and research centres and universities that study and research gender relations.

STRATEGIC GUIDELINE I

Incorporating the gender perspective into development planning at the highest levels and into social and economic policies and decisions to correct the inequality of relations between women and men caused by the persistence of discriminatory cultural contexts and economic and social practices.

Strategic objective I

To consider the specific needs of women and their equitable participation in the design, formulation, implementation and integrated evaluation of economic and social policies from a gender perspective, in the following areas:

- National, regional and international development agencies;
- Policies, programmes, plans and projects, in accordance with an integrated approach to development;
- Non-governmental organizations, the business sector and civil society.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Strategic action</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1.a</td>
<td>Ensuring that those responsible for formulating and implementing plans and policies are familiar with the gender perspective and trained in its application, so that women and men are given equal opportunities for access to and participation in the countries’ development processes and in the equitable distribution of benefits.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.b</td>
<td>Conducting comparative analyses of women’s and men’s needs, capacities and participation in development processes to detect and correct gender inequities in the design of public policies; and considering, in the processes of analysis and evaluation, the impact of economic and social measures on women and men, using quantitative and qualitative indicators, as well as case studies at the local, national and regional levels.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.c</td>
<td>Conducting broad-based, permanent awareness campaigns on the gender perspective, making use of the local and international media and public education programmes run by Governments and the private sector, to make society sensitive to the need for more balanced, egalitarian participation by women and men in development processes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.d</td>
<td>Establishing permanent training mechanisms and ensuring that all social groups have access to them, and introducing the gender perspective in all stages of training.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.e</td>
<td>Instituting action programmes to achieve more balanced and egalitarian participation by women and men in the development process, and ensuring that these programmes have the continuity they need in order to make a real cultural impact.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
AREA II: ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT WITH A GENDER PERSPECTIVE: WOMEN’S EQUITABLE SHARE IN THE DECISIONS, RESPONSIBILITIES AND BENEFITS OF DEVELOPMENT

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Political, administrative and financial deficiencies of public initiatives to guarantee women’s full exercise of citizenship.

b) Persistence of a welfare-oriented approach that limits structural reforms to promote gender equity.

c) Lack of gender perspective in development planning.

d) Insufficient establishment of legal instruments and insufficient implementation of those already established, especially the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, and insufficient political will among States to ensure their implementation.

e) Lack of legal instruments ensuring equality of rights, and insufficient implementation of existing legal instruments which perpetuates the gap between de facto and de jure equality.

f) Persistence of ethnic and cultural discrimination, which worsens the situation of the region’s indigenous and black women, and continuation of a system based on an official language whose use discriminates against a large percentage of the population and limits women’s opportunities to participate in the development of society.

g) Insufficient participation of women in the debt and structural adjustment negotiations, which ultimately has a negative effect on their lives, those of their families and their society.

h) Lack of equity in access to jobs, productive employment, training, credit and business activities, housing and land, and in wages, working conditions and social security systems, a situation which has been worsened, in the past decade, by changes in labour and social security legislation resulting from adjustment policies.

i) Failure of public policies to recognize the economic contributions made by urban and rural women through non-wage-earning productive activities.
j) Growth of unemployment and underemployment, especially among women, which tends to depress wages and weaken trade unions.

k) Rural women’s limited access to the means of production.

l) Insufficient statistical data showing the real proportion of women in the economically active population (EAP).

m) Insufficient opportunities for large sectors of the female population to enter and stay in the education system; maintenance of school curricula and teaching practices that limit women’s opportunities to participate in society and reinforce the lack of equity between women and men, as well as women’s subordination, instead of promoting their confidence and self-esteem.

n) Insufficiency of education reforms at all levels, in terms of leading to real changes in educational plans and programmes, teacher training and the updating of curricula in university and non-university higher education.

o) Insufficient coverage of health care services for women, failure to adapt these services to women’s needs and cultural orientation, and lack of information programmes to alert women to health risks, a situation aggravated by the growing privatization of such services.

p) Lack of clear proposals on sustainable development that provide for the equitable sharing of its benefits between women and men, and lack of opportunities for women to participate in identifying problems and formulating and implementing policies and programmes related to environmental concerns, which would make their contributions to the solution of those problems more efficient and effective.

q) Lack of the necessary political will to carry out specific actions to improve resources management so as to achieve sustainable development.

r) Characterization of women solely as domestic administrators of the environmental crisis.

Progress

a) Inclusion of sectoral actions directed towards women in development plans and strategies; establishment of government offices for women in nearly all countries; and legal recognition of women’s citizenship and individual rights.

b) Improvement of women’s legal status; ratification of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women; as well as the ratification of the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women; and launching of a process of amending national legislation in keeping with such instruments.
c) The larger role which women's organizations in civil society are playing in formulating policies from the gender perspective.

d) Growth of the proportion of women in the economically active population.

e) Greater number of women participating at all levels of education and continuing their education; and significant increases in the proportion of women professionals.

f) Improvement of teacher training to promote women's integration into formal and non-formal education.

g) Growing recognition of the importance of comprehensive health care and greater concern with respect to the health conditions to which women are exposed in the workplace.

h) Increased recognition of the importance of environmental protection, and of the adoption of Agenda 21 at the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development.

STRATEGIC GUIDELINE II

Ensuring that the decisions, responsibilities and benefits of development are distributed equitably between women and men.

Strategic objective II.1

To create or strengthen the political, administrative, legislative and financial capacity of government institutions that formulate, coordinate and evaluate public policies aimed at improving the status of women and promoting gender equity, and to ensure that such entities become a permanent part of the highest level of the State apparatus.

Strategic action II.1.a

Setting up, in countries where they do not exist, or consolidating government institutions for women; ensuring their definitive incorporation into the highest level of the State structure, and seeing that they are provided with the necessary financial, technical and material resources on an ongoing basis.
Strategic action II.1.b

Providing those responsible for the design, implementation and coordination of public policies with systematic training in the elaboration and analysis of gender variables and indicators, to ensure that the gender perspective is applied to the processes of diagnosis, monitoring, systematization and evaluation and to uphold high standards of technical preparation.

Strategic action II.1.c

Promoting the participation of government institutions for women in the design, discussion, formulation and amendment of draft laws, to ensure that women’s interests and needs are taken into account.

Strategic action II.1.d

Promoting the establishment of a system for monitoring and evaluating compliance with agreements, conventions, programmes and policies to benefit women, with the participation of non-governmental organizations and women’s movements.

Strategic objective II.2

To incorporate into national legislation principles and norms established at the international level so as to ensure the equitable participation of women in all aspects of society and to set up the necessary mechanisms, institutions and services for their effective implementation.

Strategic action II.2.a

Making national legislation consistent with international and regional norms that promote the advancement of women, especially in the areas of education, employment, health, human rights, political participation and the eradication of violence, and adopting and implementing policies, programmes and measures to guarantee the effective implementation of legal norms designed to improve the situation of women; proposing the legal provisions needed to achieve full gender equity, and promoting their adoption; and supplementing and amending secondary legislation, where necessary, to make it consistent with the legal provisions adopted at the constitutional level.

Strategic action II.2.b

Conducting, through the mass media, systematic campaigns, educational programmes and legal aid seminars to disseminate detailed information on women’s rights and on judicial and administrative procedures for the effective exercise thereof, as well as on the work of government and non-governmental organizations that support women, to increase women’s legal literacy, and ensuring that these campaigns and programmes primarily target vulnerable groups of women that suffer from discrimination.

Strategic action II.2.c

Raising the awareness of legislators and public officials of the need to carry out legal reforms to achieve gender equity.

Strategic action II.2.d

Preparing and promoting the adoption of an optional protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women that provides, among other mechanisms, for the right of individuals to submit petitions, as recommended in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action adopted at the World Conference on Human Rights.

Strategic action II.2.e

Urging the States of the region to sign, ratify and implement, before the Fourth World Conference on Women, the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women, adopted by the Organization of American States.*

---

Strategic objective II.3

To ensure that women have equitable access to productive work, to employment, to productive resources and to new technologies, within the framework of policies to improve their social and economic situation, and to ensure equality of opportunity and treatment with respect to working conditions and pay, as well as possibilities for job-related improvement and development and for women’s access to executive positions.

Strategic action II.3.a

Establishing follow-up and evaluation procedures to monitor compliance with the agreements adopted by the countries of the region to ensure that all women have access to employment on the same terms as men, guaranteeing them career advancement opportunities, job stability and equal pay for work of equal value.

* The delegation of Mexico entered a reservation on this strategic action.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Strategic action II.3.b</th>
<th>Promoting legislation that guarantees equal employment opportunities for women and men and includes measures against gender discrimination.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.c</td>
<td>Promoting the design and implementation of human resources training policies geared towards achieving social and gender equity by radically redirecting the training and vocational education offered to all women, especially young women, towards non-traditional fields, followed up with activities in the areas of guidance, formal education and industry and the use of advanced technologies, in order to meet the requirements of labour markets and demands for human resources in the public and private sectors, and especially within enterprises.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.d</td>
<td>Designing strategies that take women’s socio-economic and cultural differences into account, and creating the necessary policy tools to ensure that women have the same access as men to all productive resources (land, capital and labour) and to technological resources and special credit lines.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.e</td>
<td>Improving women’s working conditions by eliminating wage discrimination, ensuring full respect for women’s labour rights and guaranteeing their access to social security systems, and enacting legislation geared towards setting up support services for working women and men, such as child care and other socio-domestic services, and establishing mechanisms for the effective implementation of such provisions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.f</td>
<td>Promoting, through affirmative action, women’s egalitarian participation in the decision-making processes of workers’ organizations, taking diversity into account and encouraging the application of the gender approach in those organizations; carrying out business and trade union coordination activities to improve women’s integration in the labour market and enhance their capacity to negotiate with the public sector, workers’ organizations and private employers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.g</td>
<td>Eliminating employers’ discriminatory practices with respect to women, such as requiring proof of use of contraceptives and reporting of pregnancy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.h</td>
<td>Promoting women’s access to the highest levels of administration and management in public and private industry, commerce and services.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strategic action II.3.i</td>
<td>Increasing women’s opportunities for education and training in administration, management and the other skills they need in order to participate actively at all levels of the public and private sectors.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Strategic action II.3.j
Improving the working conditions of women who perform unwaged labour and women who work in the informal sector; compiling information on the value of their work to ensure that commensurable benefits accrue to them under social security and retirement systems.

Strategic action II.3.k
Creating mechanisms for quantifying and determining the value of the economic contribution of women's unwaged work in the home and in agriculture, food production, reproduction and community work; designing gender indicators to recognize the value of these contributions to GDP; and defining as workers, in the System of National Accounts, persons who perform unwaged labour.¹

Strategic action II.3.l
Ensuring that women's demands are taken into account in the process of negotiating integration agreements in the region, and systematizing information on those demands.

Strategic action II.3.m
Promoting research that can be used as a basis for comparative analysis of the employment and work situation of women and men in urban and rural areas, disaggregating the data collected by sex, class, ethnic origin and region; evaluating the impact of international trade liberalization on employment and migration.

Strategic action II.3.n
Conducting research, creating economic opportunities and designing technologies which address the specific needs of women and help them to meet some of the challenges posed by their multiple productive and reproductive roles.²

Strategic action II.3.o
Ensuring that statistical data from any source, especially censuses, national surveys and permanent statistical systems, is disaggregated by sex and ethnic origin, with particular attention to statistics on labour, wages and the production system in general, in both the public and private sectors; revising techniques and methodologies for compiling data; and guaranteeing civil society's access to statistics and their dissemination at the national level.

Strategic action II.3.p
Promoting and strengthening alternative financing systems and models, including the involvement of non-governmental organizations in this process.

¹ The delegation of France entered a reservation on this strategic action.
² The delegations of Argentina, Ecuador, El Salvador and Venezuela entered reservations on this strategic action. The delegation of Guatemala said that it understood "productive and reproductive roles" in terms of the scientific approach of gender theory.
Strategic objective II.4

To ensure that the population in general, and especially girls and women, have access to formal and informal education that prepares them for the full exercise of their rights and of full citizenship, equitable participation in decision-making and the egalitarian sharing of family and household responsibilities, and to ensure that girls remain in the educational system.

Strategic action II.4.a
Strengthening the full exercise of citizenship by promoting reforms in formal and non-formal education, reorienting research and adapting school curricula.

Strategic action II.4.b
Promoting increases in budgetary allocations for education, recognizing them as a form of productive public investment.

Strategic action II.4.c
Ensuring that the countries of the region comply with the agreements adopted on promoting the education of women and girls and preventing discrimination for reasons of gender, race or ethnic group, guaranteeing respect for cultural identities, and measuring this compliance through follow-up and evaluation bodies specializing in the gender perspective.

Strategic action II.4.d
Eliminating sexism and other forms of discrimination from educational processes and the messages conveyed by education and the mass media, to promote more equitable relations between women and men and to eliminate the stereotypes that are reproduced and inculcated through those channels.

Strategic action II.4.e
Conducting research and taking actions to eradicate female illiteracy, reduce women's drop-out and repetition rates and encourage women, especially rural and indigenous women, to remain in the educational system.

Strategic action II.4.f
Reducing disparities in access to tertiary education, where they exist, and ensuring that training opportunities are available to women so that they can enter and stay in universities and that women have equitable access to career development scholarships and fellowships abroad and at home.

Strategic action II.4.g
Promoting women's access to non-traditional scientific and technical careers—following the conduct of feasibility studies—by disseminating, as widely as possible, information on all available options for professional training and on the demands and conditions of the job market, adapting school curricula and instituting affirmative-action programmes for that purpose.

Strategic action
II.4.h

Establishing and promoting communication policies and strategies to combat the dissemination of stereotyped images of women and men in the media, and encouraging messages that reflect the diversity of women’s roles, living conditions and viewpoints; designing gender awareness and training programmes for teachers in the educational system and for media personnel to induce them to adopt attitudes characterized by gender equity.

Strategic action
II.4.i

Conducting multidisciplinary research on the different roles played by women throughout history, disseminating the findings thereof and incorporating them into school textbooks at all levels of education.

Strategic action
II.4.j

Ensuring the creation of a policy environment which facilitates the access of drop-outs and teenage mothers to continued education.

Strategic action
II.4.k

Promoting the access of women of all ages to physical education and sports, to enhance their self-esteem and autonomy by encouraging them to value their bodies and their leisure time.

Strategic action
II.4.l

Incorporating the issues of environment and sustainable development, sexual and reproductive health and gender equity into programmes of study and improving their content, to promote greater responsibility and awareness in those areas.¹

Strategic action
II.4.m

Developing educational actions that take advantage of the talents and skills inherent in women’s cultural identities, and especially those of disabled women.

Strategic action
II.4.n

Fostering collaboration between organizations of the women’s movement and government institutions for women in the formulation of proposals on education policies.

¹ The delegations of Argentina, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action.
Strategic objective II.5

To provide preventive and comprehensive health care for women, respecting their ethnic and cultural identity, and to ensure high quality care and have equitable access to it at all stages of their lives, taking into consideration the differential impact of gender on the processes of health and disease.

Strategic action II.5.a
Promoting the establishment of decentralized programmes of integral, prevention-oriented health care, especially in rural areas, ensuring that women participate equitably in their design and execution and that steps are taken to provide quality services which are affordable, accessible and culturally acceptable.

Strategic action II.5.b
Maximizing the use of local health care systems by promoting the incorporation of gender criteria, community participation and self-care, especially in preventive health care programmes.

Strategic action II.5.c
Promoting the inclusion, in public health policies, of specific programmes for women and men to prevent and deal with teenage pregnancy, especially in early adolescence, in a context of integral health care that includes actions such as the provision of non-sexist sex education.

Strategic action II.5.d
Allocating human, material and financial resources for integral health care for women throughout their lives; improving the health and nutritional status of pregnant women and breast-feeding mothers, inter alia by providing breast-feeding education and support services which can contribute to birth spacing, better maternal and child health and higher child survival rates.

Strategic action II.5.e
Promoting research to identify women’s health care needs, especially in the areas of mental health; drug use; sexual and reproductive health; breast-feeding; teenage pregnancy; fertility by place of residence, educational level and income bracket; all causes of maternal mortality; specific occupational and sexually transmitted diseases, and women’s vulnerability to them and to AIDS; the health of girls and older women; and all the health risk factors linked to the social construct of gender and to socio-economic conditions; and promoting actions to meet such needs.*

* The delegations of Argentina, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action.
Strategic action II.5.f  Considering health indicators for women as indicators of a country's development.

Strategic action II.5.g  Promoting measures to improve information on women’s health and record-keeping in that regard, by incorporating gender analysis into statistical information systems.

Strategic action II.5.h  Providing better family planning services and establishing systems for offering information and compassionate counselling to all women, including those with unwanted pregnancies, while recognizing the importance of abortion as a public health problem and the principle that abortion should in no case be considered a method of family planning. The implementation of this action should conform to the provisions of the relevant paragraphs of chapter 7, on reproductive rights, of the Programme of Action adopted at the International Conference on Population and Development, held at Cairo, Egypt.\(^*\)

Strategic action II.5.i  Encouraging the adoption of measures to protect and promote women’s reproductive rights, to guarantee democratic discussion of those rights and to provide the necessary services in conformity with the paragraphs on reproductive rights contained in chapter 7 of the Programme of Action adopted at the International Conference on Population and Development, held at Cairo, Egypt.\(^\)

Strategic action II.5.j  Respecting the right of couples and of women to decide freely and responsibly on the number and spacing of their children, and strengthening women’s capacity to exercise this basic right by giving both women and men access to the information, education and means they need to act on those decisions; carrying out educational programmes and activities to encourage men to participate more equitably and responsibly in family planning.

Strategic action II.5.k  Designing compulsory sex education programmes, at the level of school boards, from the first year of school.\(^\)

Strategic action II.5.l  Fostering collaboration between organizations of the women’s movement and government institutions for women in the formulation of proposals on health care policies.

\(^*\) The delegations of Argentina, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action.

\(^\) The delegations of Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action. The delegation of Argentina said that it accepted the concept of reproductive rights as reflected in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action of the World Conference on Human Rights and in the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.

\(^\) The delegations of Argentina and United States entered a reservation on this strategic action.
Strategic objective II.6

To achieve equitable participation of women in the design and management of environmental policies.

Strategic action II.6.a

Elaborating policies, laws, regulations and other instruments, in all relevant areas and at all levels, to ensure the protection of the environment and natural resources, making use of the results of specialized meetings, such as Agenda 21 adopted at the 1992 United Nations Conference on Environment and Development; urging Governments to ensure the equitable integration and participation of women and men in the planning, design, formulation and implementation of environment policies and programmes and in the implementation of specific actions in that field.

Strategic action II.6.b

Requesting Governments to set up programmes to raise the awareness of the public at large about the sustainable use of natural resources to ensure the survival of future generations, and the need to endeavour to improve and conserve the environment, especially in regions where ecological costs are particularly onerous for the female population.

Strategic action II.6.c

Providing and appropriately channelling the financial resources needed to strengthen women's participation in environmental management; enlisting the support of the international community, especially international technical and financial cooperation agencies, to encourage them to allocate more financial resources for the implementation of specific projects related to the sound use and protection of natural resources.

Strategic action II.6.d

Creating the necessary material, technical and training conditions to enable women and men to contribute to environmental protection in both urban and rural areas, taking their needs and viewpoints into account.

Strategic action II.6.e

Developing environmental policies and education programmes that address the impacts of environmental degradation on women and men and management initiatives in this field.

Strategic action II.6.f

Promoting, through formal and non-formal education programmes, at various educational levels, in the communications media and in the process of development policy planning, the concept that sustainable development is indissociable from the elimination of gender inequalities.

Strategic action II.6.g

Introducing, in formal educational curricula, instruction modules on the relationship between the environment and survival and on environmental preservation.

Strategic action II.6.h

Promoting research by government and non-governmental institutions on the relationship between women and the environment to determine how the two issues interact, especially with regard to natural resources, in both urban and rural areas, to support the formulation of appropriate policies.

Strategic action II.6.i

Addressing the structural issues that inhibit women’s use of sustainable agricultural and natural resource management techniques, such as market imperfections; lack of land tenure; limited access to appropriate technologies, training and credit; and low levels of participation in community resource management groups.

Strategic action II.6.j

Expanding economic opportunities for women in sustainable natural resource management and environmental protection to encourage these practices.

Strategic action II.6.k

Encouraging the use of appropriate production technologies, giving priority to research, promoting endogenous technologies and suitably adapting imported technologies, so as to achieve harmonious development of the community while preserving the environment.
AREA III: ELIMINATION OF POVERTY AMONG WOMEN

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Increase in extreme poverty, which affects women proportionally more than men; widening of income disparities; and deterioration of the quality of life.

b) Gradual decline in government spending on social programmes, specifically those aimed at promoting gender equity.

c) Increasing shift from governments towards the private sector and civil society of responsibilities for providing social services.

d) Increase in unemployment, poverty and inequality as a result of the external debt crisis and the implementation of adjustment and restructuring policies.

e) Increase in the number of households headed by women, most of whom work in the informal sector without legal or social protection.

f) Increasing female migration caused by poverty, which then leads to the intergenerational reproduction of poverty.

g) Lack of specific studies on how women are affected by poverty, with data disaggregated by sex.

h) Insufficient statistical data and research on how poverty affects women and men differently.

Progress

a) Growing interest in the implementation of programmes and projects targeted at poor women, especially uprooted women.

b) Increase in the participation of communities and social and non-governmental organizations, especially women’s groups, in dealing with the problems of the poor.
STRATEGIC GUIDELINE III

Reviewing and modifying, where appropriate, macroeconomic policies and adjustment programmes in the region to correct and overcome their negative effects, such as an increase in unemployment, poverty and violence, which have been particularly detrimental to women.

Creating the conditions for reducing and overcoming poverty, in the framework of a sustainable development process and taking into account each country’s level of development and socio-cultural characteristics.

Strategic objective III.1

To review, modify and integrate macroeconomic and social policies, especially in those countries where debt servicing and structural adjustment policies exist, in order to promote growth and social equity, through, among other actions, policies which allocate resources to increase employment opportunities and wages for women, giving special attention to the needs of groups of poor women and combating marginalization, taking into account people’s ethnic and socio-cultural characteristics.

Strategic action III.1.a

Formulating and implementing development policies aimed at substantially improving the living conditions of the poor, ensuring that women, especially young women, participate equitably in designing and implementing them, and that enough resources are allocated to meet the objectives of those policies; evaluating the impact of economic and social policies on the groups of women they affect.

Strategic action III.1.b

Promoting mechanisms for the systematic involvement of national machinery on women’s affairs in designing and monitoring economic and social policies with an integrated approach, to guarantee social equity and equality.

* The United States delegation entered a reservation with respect to this paragraph.
Strategic action III.1.c Promoting the consideration, in the allocation of investments, of the social, economic and cultural asymmetries or differences between different areas or communities, giving special attention to groups living in extreme poverty.

Strategic action III.1.d Raising the level of employment and personal development of women and men who are marginalized and poor by providing equal opportunities for access to free technical and vocational training and to scholarships. Encouraging women’s entry into training and economic activities that are directly linked to current demands and that can yield substantially higher wages or profit levels.

Strategic action III.1.e Promoting employment and vocational programmes that provide support to women’s cooperatives, informal-sector women entrepreneurs, associations of female producers, self-managed enterprises and other forms of productive organization. Expediting the enactment of legislation to provide legal protection for those programmes, so that women in the formal and informal sectors, especially those who are heads of household, can improve their linkages with the market and increase their productivity and income levels.

Strategic action III.1.f Improving the quality of life of women, especially those in the poorest groups, by establishing credit systems for small businesses run by women and eliminating obstacles to women’s access to all productive resources, especially training, technical assistance and basic social services.

Strategic action III.1.g Ensuring that women in small and medium-sized businesses receive training on technical-administrative issues.

Strategic action III.1.h Designing labour capacity-oriented programmes for women heads of household and facilitating their access to adequately paid work or their efforts to establish income-generating activities by themselves.

Strategic action III.1.i Redoubling efforts to generalize the use of statistics disaggregated by sex and to ensure that they include gender and ethnic indicators, and promoting the incorporation of analyses differentiated by sex into statistical systems, thereby facilitating the conduct of more precise studies of the needs of women and men; and ensuring the provision of the necessary technical and financial resources for that purpose.
Strategic objective III.2

To create the necessary conditions for ensuring that adequate coverage and quality of education are provided to poor women, taking into account their ethnic, national and age characteristics, as well as the specific problems of disabled, uprooted, rural and migrant women.

Strategic action III.2.a
Ensuring that women and men, girls and boys, especially those in vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination, receive an education that incorporates the gender approach and seeks to strengthen the exercise of citizenship in conditions of equity, inter alia by teaching them about their human and civil rights and duties.

Strategic action III.2.b
Establishing decentralized entities to monitor, supervise and evaluate the educational achievements of women and men, especially in terms of variables such as whether they live in urban or rural areas or belong to vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination, and ensuring that women can enter all fields of education and training.

Strategic action III.2.c
Supporting women’s efforts and advancement through a wide-ranging public education process conducted by the government and private sectors, with the help of the mass media, recognizing their autonomy and decision-making capacity and strengthening organizations of all types, especially grass-roots organizations, that help women to meet their objectives.

Strategic action III.2.d
Creating quality informal educational opportunities for women and girls.

Strategic action III.2.e
Carrying out literacy programmes and projects to eradicate illiteracy, especially among women in vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination, ensuring respect for cultural differences.

Strategic action III.2.f
Supporting the cause of indigenous peoples and women so that they can define their own development goals and preserve their cultural identity, without prejudice to their civil rights or to the unity of the State, and allocating the necessary financial and material resources for that purpose.
Strategic action III.2.g

Designing educational programmes that specifically address the special needs of street children, especially girls, to enable such children to stay in school.

Strategic objective III.3

To ensure access to comprehensive, high-quality preventive health care services to poor women, taking into account their cultural, linguistic and age characteristics.

Strategic action III.3.a

Establishing and equipping local centres that provide comprehensive health care and give priority to the major health risks to women in vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination, with emphasis on preventive services and with the participation of women.

Strategic action III.3.b

Allocating resources to provide comprehensive health care to women throughout their lives, especially during pregnancy, puerperium and breast-feeding, and to ensure health care for working women.

Strategic action III.3.c

Providing appropriate health information, education and services to young women, especially pregnant teenagers.

Strategic objective III.4

To give women living in poverty, especially heads of household, access to decent housing and adequate infrastructure services to sustain a living.

Strategic action III.4.a

Designing and implementing housing programmes especially tailored for women in vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination — rural and urban women who are in the subsistence economy or who are heads of household, displaced, refugees or disabled — and providing credit on easy terms and technical assistance to ensure their access to basic infrastructure.
Strategic action III.4.b
Promoting women’s and men’s involvement in the design, construction and improvement of their dwellings so that their needs and sociocultural differences are taken into account, and ensuring greater decentralization of housing policies to facilitate this process at the local level, making use of local resources.

Strategic action III.4.c
Eliminating legal barriers that prevent women from obtaining housing in their own names or claiming the status of heads of household, and designing housing policies that give priority, in terms of access to credit for urban and rural housing, to single mothers who are heads of household.

Strategic action III.4.d
Removing legal barriers that deny women the right to gain, hold and transfer title to their homes and properties.

Strategic action III.4.e
Establishing building codes, enforceable at the community level, to guarantee access of the disabled to physical and social infrastructural services.

Strategic objective III.5
To stem migration from the countryside to the cities by means of investment in rural development and other specific measures.

Strategic action III.5.a
Improving the situation of rural women by investing in rural development, designing employment policies and programmes and taking specific measures (provision of infrastructure, technology and services) to help reduce poverty in that sector and the rate of rural-to-urban migration, as well as the consequent break-up of families.

Strategic objective III.6
To promote, at all levels of government, of the State and of civil society, actions to make rural women’s contribution to development and their productive role in society visible.
Strategic action III.6.a  Revising legislation, policies, plans, programmes and projects to facilitate women’s access to land, production facilities and natural resources.

Strategic action III.6.b  Designing programmes to support the activities carried out by rural women, including food production, employment in agro-industry and product marketing.

Strategic action III.6.c  Making public and private agricultural organizations and the general population aware of the rights of rural women, and providing training on the subject.

Strategic action III.6.d  Improving the living conditions of rural women by providing basic infrastructure and services and promoting programmes designed to alleviate their burden of housework.

Strategic action III.6.e  Developing the capacities of rural women through the promotion of organization and training, to strengthen them as social agents.

Strategic action III.6.f  Training women already in the rural productive sector to become effectively involved as exporters individually and in groups in their own right.

Strategic action III.6.g  Providing training to ensure that the methodologies and timing of technology transfer activities are suitable for rural women.

Strategic action III.6.h  Disaggregating agricultural production data by sex and socio-economic situation, to heighten the visibility of rural women’s economic contribution to agricultural production.
AREA IV: WOMEN’S EQUITABLE PARTICIPATION IN DECISION-MAKING AND IN THE EXERCISE OF POWER IN PUBLIC AND PRIVATE LIFE

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Existence of an institutional, social and cultural structure that hinders women’s access to power at all levels.

b) Persistence of cultural patterns and stereotypes that reserve public power for men and assign exclusively to women domestic chores and functions.

c) Lack of legal instruments and the restrictive nature of the institutions in which power is vested.

d) Continued existence, in social and political institutions, of machinery that is explicitly or implicitly discriminatory.

Progress

a) Greater participation of women in power structures, although to different degrees in different countries.

b) Evidence of a growing concern about the situation of women in national, State, regional and international agendas.

c) Strengthened collaboration between the State and women’s organizations in democratic systems.

STRATEGIC GUIDELINE IV

Ensuring that women have equitable access to power structures and decision-making processes by creating mechanisms and actions that allow for their effective participation in the development of a full-fledged democracy.
Strategic objective IV.1

To promote and ensure the equitable participation of women in all public and private power structures by taking affirmative steps to secure and expand their access to the exercise of power, as an integral element of citizenship, at the legislative, judicial, executive, supervisory and planning levels.

Strategic action IV.1.a

Strongly encouraging all newly elected Governments to appoint, on equal terms, more women to decision-making positions in their cabinets and administrations, especially in the field of economics, in the various branches of government.

Strategic action IV.1.b

Encouraging the establishment of women’s rights commissions, consisting of both women and men, in the legislative branch of government, and promoting their coordination with government institutions for women.

Strategic action IV.1.c

Ensuring women’s equitable participation in all high-level commissions and entities, inter alia as official foreign representatives and as diplomats.

Strategic action IV.1.d

Demanding that training in the gender perspective be made compulsory at all levels of State coordination.

Strategic action IV.1.e

Using training modules that incorporate the gender perspective to train women, including indigenous women, in leadership and empowerment, to strengthen their possibilities of performing leadership functions in the upper echelons of the State structure and in all institutions of society, and to raise awareness of the need for women to participate equitably in decision-making processes.

Strategic action IV.1.f

Urging political parties to guarantee equality of opportunity for women in terms of access to party leadership positions and to the process of selecting candidates for elective office, including the adoption of specific affirmative-action measures such as reforms of electoral codes and the establishment of progressive minimum quotas until equitable participation is assured, and carrying out programmes of information and guidance — for both women and men — on the importance of women’s participation in political parties.
Strategic action IV.1.g

Encouraging and supporting, through the mass media, the effective participation of women and young women, especially new voters, in decision-making processes and in the exercise of their political rights and responsibilities, including that of standing for elective or appointive office, as part of their citizenship.

Strategic action IV.1.h

Encouraging the communications media to include women, on an equitable basis, in positions where decisions are taken on administrative issues, programming and the content of the messages conveyed.

Strategic action IV.1.i

Establishing mechanisms and procedures to guarantee women’s equal opportunity for advancement in public, political and union careers, and fostering gender equity in terms of promotions, professional development and other areas.

Strategic action IV.1.j

Promoting operational changes in public and private organizations to encourage greater participation by women in their activities and meetings.

Strategic action IV.1.k

Promoting the creation of conditions and opportunities for women to be elected to public office.

Strategic action IV.1.l

Stimulating, in all areas of society, both public and private, processes of change geared towards consolidating equitable and democratic relationships between women and men.*

---

Strategic objective IV.2

To promote positive measures to create the necessary conditions for women’s equitable participation and political representation in businesses, trade unions, political parties and other formal and informal areas of civil society, and in all decision-making processes and in the area of development planning.

Strategic action IV.2.a

Promoting changes in the inequitable and sexist conceptions underlying the behaviours of women and men.

Strategic action IV.2.b

Adopting affirmative-action measures to help increase women’s participation in decision-making processes.

* The delegations of Dominican Republic and Honduras entered a reservation on this strategic action.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Strategic action</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.c</td>
<td>Promoting the empowerment of women in all aspects of private and public life so that they can exercise their rights, express their needs and interests and gain greater autonomy and personal, economic and social power, in their capacity as citizens.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.d</td>
<td>Funding and conducting studies to identify the factors that obstruct or hinder women’s full participation in decision-making processes; establishing mechanisms to help increase their participation in those processes; and disseminating all information gleaned from these studies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.e</td>
<td>Raising public awareness of the necessity and desirability of women’s participation in decision-making processes and power structures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.f</td>
<td>Carrying out awareness campaigns to promote women’s full participation in all public power structures, recognizing the need to change the distribution of responsibilities and work in the private sphere.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.g</td>
<td>Designing, implementing and strengthening formal and informal training programmes on management, organization, negotiation, administration and leadership for women’s organizations and women in general.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.h</td>
<td>Promoting recognition of and respect for the autonomy of women’s movements and non-governmental organizations, and raising the awareness of other organizations of civil society so that they incorporate the gender approach and use equitable procedures for distributing posts; and systematizing processes of consultation with non-governmental organizations and women’s organizations in the formulation, monitoring and evaluation of public policies that support women.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.i</td>
<td>Promoting collaboration between government agencies and non-governmental organizations to raise awareness of the need to eliminate existing inequalities, and establishing joint monitoring procedures to ensure the effective implementation of policies designed to correct that inequality.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV.2.j</td>
<td>Supporting the funding and strengthening of women’s organizations, systematizing and disseminating the knowledge they generate and promoting their linkage with other social entities.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
AREA V: HUMAN RIGHTS, PEACE AND VIOLENCE

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Insufficiency of measures taken to guarantee women’s full exercise of human rights and citizenship.

b) Various types of violence of structural origin directed against women and lack of recognition that it is a public problem.

c) Failure to comply with international conventions aimed at eliminating inequality between women and men and discrimination against women.

d) Persistence of gender-based discriminatory legislation which reinforces women’s unequal status in society and the family.

e) Obsolete nature of penal law.

f) Limited recognition of women’ rights as human rights.

g) Shortcomings in the administration of justice and difficult access for women to judicial proceedings.

h) Insufficient support services for female victims of violence.

i) Persistence of conditions permitting impunity for those who commit crimes against women.

j) Inadequacy of systems of rehabilitating perpetrators of acts of violence against women through training in non-violent ways of settling disputes.

Progress

a) Significant progress in seeking to settle disputes through political negotiations.

c) Adoption of the Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women and of other human rights instruments.

d) Recognition of the topic of violence against women as an issue for public debate.

e) Emergence of initiatives to provide support to female victims of violence.
f) Adoption of the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women.

g) Promotion of Culture of Peace Programmes, which have received international, regional and national support, and contributed to the repair of the social fabric and the achievement of reconciliation, with a leading role for women.

h) International recognition of women’s reproductive rights.*

STRATEGIC GUIDELINE V

Ensuring the universal, inalienable, indivisible and integral nature of all the human rights (civil, political, economic, social and cultural) of women, as well as consistent respect for and protection of these rights in a healthful environment at all times and in all places.

Strategic objective V.1

To consolidate full respect for the human rights (civil, political, economic, social and cultural) of women in the region, within a context where priority is given to the elimination of gender-based violence and discrimination and to the rights of poor and uprooted women, taking ethnic and racial differences into account.

Strategic action V.1.a

Establishing and strengthening mechanisms for ensuring compliance with international conventions and all programme areas of regional and national plans of action, in order to close the gap between de jure and de facto equality to help ensure that women, particularly those in situations of greater vulnerability, participate fully in all areas of society, and urging States which have not ratified the relevant conventions to do so without reservations.

* The Ecuadorian delegation entered a reservation with respect to this subparagraph.
Strategic action V.1.b
Establishing and/or updating legal and administrative mechanisms for the protection of women's human rights to ensure that they effectively safeguard the full exercise of those rights.

Strategic action V.1.c
Eliminating or amending all national legislative provisions whose application promotes or permits discrimination against women in civil, criminal, family, procedural, labour, commercial and administrative law, and in the areas of education and health.

Strategic action V.1.d
Bringing national legislation into line with international norms, especially with regard to women's human rights, and urging Governments to draw up and promulgate new national laws and penal, civil, administrative and procedural regulations to prevent, punish and eradicate all forms and manifestations of violence against women.

Strategic action V.1.e
Ensuring that national constitutions expressly set forth the principle of equality between women and men and prohibit all forms of sex discrimination; making secondary legislation consistent with constitutional provisions that reflect international commitments in that regard and with all provisions that safeguard human rights.

Strategic action V.1.f
Including specific provisions in national legislation to safeguard respect for the rights of uprooted and migrant women and women who belong to particular ethnic groups.

Strategic action V.1.g
Promoting the promulgation of affirmative-action laws to expedite the process of achieving equity between women and men.

Strategic action V.1.h
Decentralizing and broadening the coverage of services for the administration of justice, especially in rural and marginal urban areas, and adopting other mechanisms to give women greater access to legal services.

Strategic action V.1.i
Disseminating information on legally recognized human rights so that women become fully aware of them and learn to demand that they be respected in all areas of national life.

Strategic action V.1.j
Urging States to incorporate gender-sensitive educational programmes on human rights into all levels of formal and non-formal education and training programmes for government officials.

Strategic action V.1.k
Creating or strengthening appropriate national and subregional mechanisms and follow-up procedures for promoting the human rights enshrined in national and international instruments, particularly the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development, the Vienna
Declaration and Programme of Action adopted at the World Conference on Human Rights and the Inter-American Convention on the Forced Disappearance of Persons, as well as procedures for reporting human rights violations; guaranteeing the effective involvement of women’s movements in such mechanisms and procedures, and paying special attention to all forms of violence against women in situations of vulnerability and discrimination—particularly forced prostitution of women and girls, sexual abuse of and trafficking in women, teenagers and children, and sexual harassment in the workplace—and to the victims of such crimes.

Strategic action V.1.i

Adopting a theoretical framework with which more effective steps can be taken to promote equality and combat violence, taking the concept of human rights as the cornerstone of that framework; to that end, including the subject of human rights in national education programmes to ensure that all women are fully aware of the human rights enshrined in international and national law so that they can promote and protect those rights.

Strategic action V.1.m

Encouraging the efforts of the Commission on the Status of Women and the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women to prepare an optional protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, providing for the right of individual petition, as recommended in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action adopted at the World Conference on Human Rights.

Strategic action V.1.n

Creating the necessary conditions and providing sufficient resources for the incorporation into society of women affected by armed conflicts and pervasive violence, with special emphasis on young, refugee, displaced and repatriated women. Providing the means to facilitate intervention by human rights organizations and women’s organizations so that their efforts can help prevent and eliminate all forms of violence or abuse perpetrated against women.

Strategic action V.1.o

Creating conditions in which victims of human rights violations, particularly those deriving from political violence, are assured of the right to take appropriate action under civil, criminal and administrative law.

Strategic action V.1.p

Establishing more appropriate legal, psychological and medical services for victims of human rights violations and violence, and giving priority to the allocation of resources to establish, operate and develop such services.

Strategic action V.1.q

Promoting the adoption and implementation of an international convention against all forms of overt and covert sexual exploitation, including sex tourism and child prostitution, which provides for the establishment of social services to assist victims of all forms of sexual exploitation and for the prosecution of traffickers and managers of the sex industry.

Strategic action V.1.r

Establishing and strengthening programmes to promote a culture of peace, foster peace processes and help eradicate violence in society and in the upbringing of girls and boys, with particular emphasis on the elimination of the type of violence portrayed in the mass media, including that in the movies, on television and in cartoons.

Strategic action V.1.s

Promoting research on violence against women of all ages, using non-traditional statistics and data from other available sources and devising a system for recording such information, disaggregated by sex, in public entities that deal with situations of violence, such as police departments, legal offices and health services; disseminating the findings thereof, conducting public awareness campaigns and integrating reports and studies by Governments and specialized non-governmental organizations for that purpose; and ensuring that States cooperate with regional and international research mechanisms.

Strategic action V.1.t

Urging the region’s Governments to sign, ratify and implement the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence against Women, adopted by the Organization of American States (OAS).

Strategic action V.1.u

Giving priority to proposed legislation in the economics field that would help ensure women’s access to the resources they need for integral development, as well as to capital and markets.

Strategic action V.1.v

Promoting the adoption of measures to protect women’s reproductive rights.*

Strategic action V.1.w

Adopting the recommendations of the International Research and Training Institute for the Advancement of Women (INSTRAW) on recognizing the value of housework.

---

* The delegations of Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action. The delegation of Argentina said that it accepted the concept of reproductive rights as reflected in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action of the World Conference on Human Rights and in the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.
Strategic objective V.2

To promote action to make visible and eliminate all types and forms of violence against women.

Strategic action V.2.a

Heightening the visibility of the phenomenon of violence through legislation, and penalizing it as a public problem of law-and-order; promoting the decentralization of systems for reporting acts of violence and of mechanisms for providing protection against all forms of violence against women.

Strategic action V.2.b

Promoting the conduct of awareness, training and development programmes, incorporating the gender perspective, to ensure that persons and organizations that deal with female victims of violence or disabled women can provide timely and increasingly humanized technical responses.

Strategic action V.2.c

Raising the consciousness of women to make them aware of how women are portrayed as objects in advertisements and in programmes which do not highlight women’s full capacity.

Strategic action V.2.d

Implementing training activities aimed at the communications media and journalists’ associations to ensure that they promote respect for women and censure violence against women.

Strategic action V.2.e

Promoting research and studies on the situation of women, taking into account the specific features of different vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination, to influence the formulation and reformulation of laws and policies to eradicate violence in all its manifestations.

Strategic objective V.3

To sensitize the mass media to the impact of the pervasive culture of violence, with the aim of eradicating the image of women in the media, which is the product of discrimination.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Strategic action</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>V.3.a</td>
<td>Carrying out mass communication campaigns to promote peace, tolerance, solidarity and mutual respect.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>V.3.b</td>
<td>Promoting information activities or campaigns on the existence of a pervasive culture of violence in the region, its manifestations in the form of violence against women and possible techniques for addressing both problems positively by eliminating the discriminatory image of women in public advertisement, television and radio programmes and the print media.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>V.3.c</td>
<td>Providing gender sensitivity training for personnel in the communications sectors, especially film producers; audio, visual and print media; advertising and marketing personnel and their agencies; and specialized organizations and associations, in order to reduce and eliminate the negative and stereotyped images of women and the impact of these images on the perpetuation of and increase in violence against women in particular and society in general.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
AREA VI: SHARED FAMILY RESPONSIBILITIES

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) The discrepancy in some countries between traditional family structure and the forms family structure takes in the different communities that make up the region.

b) Persistence of the roles socially assigned to women within the family.

c) Scarcity of services to meet basic family needs.

d) Failure to recognize motherhood as a social responsibility at the level of everyday life.

e) Predominance of the patriarchal concept of the family.

f) Insufficient recognition of and support for diverse family types.

Progress

a) Legal recognition of the variety of family structures in the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean, and concern for the issue of shared family responsibilities.

b) Increased recognition of the economic value of women’s unwaged work including housework.

STRATEGIC GUIDELINE VI

Promoting more equitable sharing of family responsibilities between women and men, stimulating public debate on the need for greater flexibility in social roles and fostering recognition of the diversity of existing family structures.

* The Ecuadorian delegation entered a reservation with respect to this subparagraph.
Strategic objective VI

To stimulate, in all areas of society, processes of change to consolidate democratic family structures.

Strategic action VI.a
Promoting public campaigns and the necessary changes in educational plans and programmes in order to raise society's awareness of the value of the time socially necessary for the care of the home and family and of the need for equitable distribution of these tasks among all members of the household.

Strategic action VI.b
Promoting the implementation of communication strategies to highlight issues such as the new roles being played by women in society, the diversity of family structures and the democratization of the distribution of housework among members of households, women and men, promoting democratic relations among family members.

Strategic action VI.c
Conducting studies and establishing mechanisms to quantify the contribution and the economic value of the unpaid work performed by women, especially housework, participation in agriculture and the care and feeding of children, and incorporating that contribution into national accounts.

Strategic action VI.d
Persuading Governments to increase budgetary allocations to social development programmes, and harmonizing economic adjustment measures with actions to strengthen the capacities of families of all types to ensure their proper development and socialization.

Strategic action VI.e
Ensuring, in each country, that women and men have access to contraceptives and that women are enabled to exercise their reproductive rights freely; promoting research on scientific methods of regulating male fertility to balance the use of contraceptives for women. In the context of this action, it is considered that, as stated in paragraph 8.25 of the Programme

* The delegations of Dominican Republic and Honduras entered reservations on this strategic action.
 The delegation of France entered a reservation on this strategic action.
 The delegations of Argentina, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Peru entered reservations on this strategic action. of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development, "in circumstances in which abortion is not against the law, such abortion should be safe".

Strategic action VI.f

Helping families to improve parenting skills in order to help combat gender biases; fostering the analysis of families as the place where the socialization process significantly contributes to the origin of the gender-based division of labour and gender stereotypes.

Strategic action VI.g

Stressing the need for Governments to recognize, in their migration and assignment policies, the importance of enhancing the development potential of families, preserving their integrity and contributing to their reunification.

Strategic action VI.h

Demanding that the State provide favourable conditions for motherhood and breast-feeding, and raising society’s awareness of its shared responsibility for protecting these practices.

Strategic action VI.i

Fostering and encouraging the equal participation of women and men by promoting measures such as parental leave for both sexes, to enable them to achieve a better balance between their household and public responsibilities. Taking steps to ensure that the rights of the child are observed, with particular reference to adequate financial support from parents, by way of the enforcement of laws on child-support payments, and to the legal and social protection of children from all forms of child abuse.

Strategic action VI.j

Conducting gender studies to identify institutional barriers to equal access to justice, and imposing remedies in cases where gender bias has tainted the decision of the courts.

Strategic action VI.k

Promoting the consideration of housework as an economic contribution in the relevant legislation.

* The delegations of Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Peru entered a reservation on this strategic action. The delegation of Argentina said that it accepted the concept of reproductive rights as reflected in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action of the World Conference on Human Rights and in the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women.
AREA VII: RECOGNITION OF CULTURAL PLURALITY
IN THE REGION

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Persistence of cultural models which exclude, silence or distort women’s identity and knowledge in all areas of social life and which are expressed within the family, education, mass communication and art.

b) The exclusion or marginalization of some groups of people in the decision-making process on the basis of cultural or ethnic factors, which results in dual discrimination in the case of women.

c) The exclusion of some groups of people from full participation in the political process, and from the social, political and economic benefits of development.

d) Persistent discrimination against women in the mass media, which is a factor that limits their presence in decision-making positions.

Progress

a) The formation of women’s organizations that are transmitting their own culture and ethnic values, and defending their right to participate.

b) Greater openness at the global level with respect to recognizing cultural plurality and strengthening its visibility. Examples of such a process are the proclamation of the World Decade for Cultural Development and of the International Year of the World’s Indigenous People, as well as the convening of the World Summit for Social Development.

c) Incipient recognition of women’s contribution to culture throughout history.

d) The increasing involvement of women in the creation of alternative communications, organizations and networks in the fields of culture and communications.
STRATEGIC GUIDELINE VII

Promoting cultural equity and respect for cultural diversity resulting in the visible and equitable participation of women and men of all ethnic and cultural groups both in the region and within their societies.

Strategic objective VII.1

To recognize and value women’s cultural plurality and to meet their needs in terms of gender equity, respecting cultural diversity and identities.

Strategic action VII.1.a

Supporting the cause of indigenous peoples, ethnic groups and other vulnerable groups that suffer from discrimination so that they can preserve their cultural identity and define their own development goals, and supporting the organization of women in these groups so that they can participate equitably in designing, managing and administering such development efforts.

Strategic action VII.1.b

Promoting the enactment of the necessary legislation to ensure that indigenous languages are recognized and officially used in areas where indigenous peoples live, and adopting measures to facilitate the education of people in their own language and the teaching of the official language as a second language.

Strategic objective VII.2

To provide women and men with education from an early age to promote sensitivity to and knowledge of human sexuality, gender equity and cultural diversity.

Strategic action VII.2.a

Highlighting the negative impact on women of the sexism rooted in family structure and relations.

Strategic action VII.2.b

Promoting a positive attitude towards women’s integration into public life and men’s integration into private life.
Strategic objective VII.3

To motivate families and those belonging to the education system and social organizations who are involved in the creation and transmission of culture to give equal value to different cultures, and to respect gender equity in all forms of cultural expression.

Strategic action VII.3.a
Implementing actions to motivate the family, the educational system and all social organizations to become involved in the creation and transmission of culture, to ensure that they assign equal value to the sexes and respect gender equity in all forms of cultural expression. Ensuring that the existing cultural plurality and diversity is reflected in the visible and equitable participation of the members of all ethnic groups in the wider areas of society.

Strategic objective VII.4

To encourage the development of a pluralistic, non-discriminatory social image of women in culture and communications.

Strategic action VII.4.a
Projecting a realistic and pluralistic image of women in the messages transmitted and campaigns waged by Governments and organizations of civil society through the mass media, and promoting the extension of that image to all of the messages conveyed by the mass media.

Strategic action VII.4.b
Encouraging women’s involvement as spokespersons on issues of public interest.
Strategic objective VII.5

To promote women’s participation and initiatives in matters relating to artistic and cultural expression, particularly where the goal is to counteract violence against women.

Strategic action VII.5.a
Fostering women’s artistic and cultural development by promoting their participation in creative processes and in competitions, programmes and other activities in the cultural field.

Strategic action VII.5.b
Promoting women’s participation in high-level positions in national and intergovernmental public entities that organize and finance artistic and cultural projects.

Strategic objective VII.6

To eliminate sexist expressions from linguistic usage, and to help create a form of discourse that expresses the reality of women.

Strategic action VII.6.a
Promoting the adoption of measures to eliminate sexist expressions in linguistic usage and to help create a form of discourse that expresses the reality of women’s situation, especially in school curricula and educational materials.

Strategic objective VII.7

To allow women access to new telecommunications and information technologies and train them to operate the systems in question.

Strategic action VII.7.a
Stimulating the establishment of information networks linking women to organizations concerned with gender issues, to promote and support efforts towards cultural change.
Strategic action VII.7.b Promoting women’s participation in the development of innovative initiatives in the mass media, especially with respect to the incorporation of new information technologies.

Strategic objective VII.8

To strengthen women’s participation in decision-making in the mass media.

Strategic action VII.8.a Systematically and continually raising awareness of the goal of non-discrimination against women among media managers and professionals of both sexes.
AREA VIII: INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT AND COOPERATION

DIAGNOSIS

Obstacles

a) Tardy and unequal access to international cooperation for the application of the Nairobi strategies.

b) A lack of emphasis and application of women-in-development approaches, and limited flexibility for incorporating the gender perspective in cooperation policies and programmes of some organizations from the viewpoint of acquisition and exercise of power by women.

c) Weakness in strategic planning and the failure to adopt indicators which facilitate an assessment of behaviour, directionality and impact in projects financed by different organizations.

d) Limited access to financing in major areas such as research, diagnosis, systematization, and follow-up of actions, as well as in training, raising of awareness and communication.

e) Conditions (even if only occasional) imposed by a number of cooperation agencies and organizations which do not entirely reflect women’s interests.

Progress

a) Financial contribution for the development of projects designed to generate income and which target women in vulnerable situations.

b) Support for the establishment and strengthening of women’s organizations and for the creation of alternative services.

c) Technical and financial cooperation that promote Government institutions dedicated to the advancement of women.
STRATEGIC GUIDELINE VIII

Ensuring that at the policy level international cooperation incorporates the gender perspective in carrying out autonomous, integrated projects.

Strategic objective VIII

To promote, among international support agencies, Governments and civil society, actions leading to ongoing processes for the analysis and monitoring of cooperation policies that incorporate the gender perspective.

Strategic action VIII.a

Negotiating with bilateral and multilateral organizations on increasing the amount of funds earmarked for the implementation of actions, plans and projects through which the countries can put this Regional Programme of Action into practice, considering research as a priority aspect of their design and execution and emphasizing gender training for both government officials and international cooperation agency staff.

Strategic action VIII.b

Urging international cooperation agencies to support the conduct of a critical analysis of the structural causes and the effects of poverty among women, with a view to reorienting and channelling resources to help achieve the objectives of the Regional Programme of Action.

Strategic action VIII.c

Promoting an ongoing process of dialogue among Governments, government institutions for women, international cooperation agencies and women’s organizations, through the establishment of national commissions to promote coordination and collaboration and to facilitate the analysis of various processes, the identification of cooperation priorities and the new theoretical approaches that emerge from the day-to-day implementation of actions. All the participants in those commissions should be involved in designing and monitoring the national plan of action deriving from this Regional Programme of Action.
Strategic action VIII.d
Ensuring that this Programme of Action is used as a frame of reference in distributing the support of international cooperation and that efforts are made to strengthen the operations and mechanisms of both government and non-governmental agencies that promote the advancement of women at all levels.

Strategic action VIII.e
Urging cooperation agencies to establish and guarantee the operation of inter-agency committees at the national, regional and international levels, in order to coordinate their actions and contribute to the implementation of this Regional Programme of Action in the context of their respective mandates.

Strategic action VIII.f
Promoting horizontal negotiation between cooperation agencies and organizations of the women’s movement with a view to increasing the amount of funds earmarked for women’s projects.

Upon adopting this Programme of Action, at its sixth session, the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean requests:

a) That ECLAC continue to convene regular sessions of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into Development as a forum for monitoring the implementation of the Programme of Action and evaluating its effectiveness and for making adjustments in priority areas and actions, as required.

b) That the Presiding Officers of the Regional Conference on the Integration of Women into the Economic and Social Development of Latin America and the Caribbean assume responsibility for following up the implementation of the Programme of Action in collaboration with Governments, and with the participation of national bodies responsible for policies and programmes for women as well as of the subregional groupings.

c) That with a view to keeping the Programme of Action up to date, the ECLAC Secretariat take into account the results of the meetings of United Nations forums which bear directly or indirectly on the situation of women, so as to incorporate them, where appropriate, into the recommendations of the regular regional conferences on women.

d) That the ECLAC secretariat continue to assist the Presiding Officers in ensuring the best possible coordination with the specialized agencies and organizations in the United Nations system, intergovernmental bodies and non-governmental bodies whose work is related to the status of women and promotion of the gender perspective.

e) That the ECLAC secretariat present to the Presiding Officers a list of such agencies and organizations, to be regularly updated, including all the organizations that constitute the core body of institutions whose work is linked to the Regional Programme and whose cooperation should be actively sought.