PROPOSED DRAFT PROGRAMME OF WORK OF THE ECLAC SUBREGIONAL HEADQUARTERS FOR THE CARIBBEAN

SUBPROGRAMME 12: SUBREGIONAL ACTIVITIES IN THE CARIBBEAN

Biennial Programme Plan

Biennium 2010-2011
Introduction

The Caribbean subregion operates within a dynamic global and regional environment, characterised by the erosion of preferential market access for its goods and services; weak public policy frameworks for regional cooperation; high levels of indebtedness; susceptibility to natural disasters and other external shocks such as fluctuations in international commodity prices which contribute to the vulnerability of Caribbean Small Island Developing States (SIDS) and; increasing challenges to social cohesion and human security. Additionally, the negative effects of global warming, in the form of sea-level rise, destruction of the region's fragile ecology and increased intensity of storms severely hamper the development potential of the subregion.

Moreover, Caribbean Governments have faced great challenges translating global commitments arising from the Internationally Agreed Development Goals (IADGs), into broader regional objectives and country specific goals and priorities. Although substantial progress has been made in regional integration through the implementation of the Caribbean Single Market and Economy (CSME) many gaps remain in the form of weak regional policy frameworks to facilitate a common development agenda, the application of evidence-based approaches in policy making and the availability and use of statistical data and standard indicators with which to measure progress in development. Consequently, Caribbean Governments have expressed their need for technical support from the UN system and other development partners in overcoming these challenges and in fostering greater coherence and coordination in external support.

In the 2010-2011 biennium, the ECLAC subregional headquarters for the Caribbean will continue to analyse issues of special relevance to the economic, social and sustainable development concerns of the subregion. In this context, the subprogramme will seek to: (i) facilitate member countries in using evidence-based approaches to policy formulation; (ii) enhance national capacities to generate the required indicators and statistics essential to monitor progress towards the internationally agreed development goals, including the MDGs; (iii) provide an increasingly modern and efficient information and knowledge management service to CDCC member countries; (iv) promote analysis, design and implementation of social policies, including gender mainstreaming, poverty reduction, population and ageing policies; and (v) facilitate the attainment of sustainable development goals as set out in the Barbados Programme of Action and further elaborated in the Mauritius Strategy for Implementation (MSI).
Objective: To promote and further strengthen the development process within the Caribbean and enhance the subregion’s cooperation with Latin American countries.

Strategy

Responsibility for the implementation of this subprogramme is entrusted to the ECLAC Subregional Headquarters for the Caribbean, which also serves as the secretariat for the Caribbean Development and Cooperation Committee (CDCC). This office will continue to provide technical cooperation and support to member and associate member Governments of the subregion to facilitate public policy-making and decision-making in response to meeting the challenges of sustainable development, globalization and subregional and regional integration.

A key element of the strategy is to enhance the CDCC to serve as a forum for Governments to set priorities on key development issues in the subregion and for assessing and reviewing regional progress towards the achievement of the internationally-agreed development goals. Through the partnership arrangements, the subprogramme will promote information and good practices sharing among member countries in the Caribbean and with countries of the wider Caribbean and Latin America. For the success of the partnership approach it will be crucial to actively engage subregional institutions such as the Caribbean Community Secretariat (CARICOM), the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States (OECS), the Caribbean Development Bank (CDB), the Caribbean Regional Negotiating Machinery (CRNM), Universities and the Association of Caribbean States (ACS), as well as the specialized agencies and programmes of the UN system. The strategy will also involve the promotion of debate and policy dialogue on critical development concerns facing the Caribbean, through the conduct of analytical work and the transmission of wider regional experiences. In this connection, the strategy will include applied research for the formulation of public policies and the facilitation of their practical implementation by making available technical advisory services, capacity-building initiatives and training in the areas of competency. Efforts will be accelerated to ensure that member countries have the capacity to access reliable data and information, reporting and monitoring systems or generate the required indicators and statistics essential to monitor progress towards the internationally agreed development goals including the MDGs. In this respect, the subprogramme will continue to be engaged with the UN system in preparing and implementing the UNDAF for CDCC member countries. Finally, the subprogramme will ensure the integrated follow-up to the implementation of the programmes of action derived from the major international conferences and summits sponsored by the United Nations in the economic and social field.

External factors

The objective and expected accomplishments of the subprogramme will be achievable based on the following assumptions:

(a) An excellent rapport and trust with the key national stakeholders must be maintained and strengthened;

(b) It is crucial that the requisite resources be provided by the international community and the government themselves for the successful achievement of the desired results. Requisite resources will include human, financial and adequate equipment;

(c) The further strengthening of collaboration and cooperation between regional and international organizations operating in the sub-region will be crucial to our overall success.
