The Natural Disaster Training Manual for Small Island Developing States (SIDS) was prepared and edited by a group of professional staff of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC) Subregional Headquarters for the Caribbean and two consultants. The professional staff included (in alphabetical order): Erik Blommestein (Sustainable Development Unit), Lancelot Busby (Statistics Unit), Len Ishmael (Director), Asha Kambon (Social Unit) and Esteban Pérez (Economics Unit). The consultants were Ivor Jackson and David Smith. Maureen Afoon and Angela Martin formatted the Manual.

Two other preliminary versions of the manual were used in training courses in Jamaica (April 2002) and Saint Lucia (December 2002). The contents of this version of the Training Manual were subject to a number of revisions, internal sessions and meetings as well as external presentations of some of its chapters at the World Bank headquarters in Washington D.C. (May 2002) which expanded its scope and improved its quality. The usual caveats apply.
