The fourth subprogramme relates to regional economic integration and co-operation and to economic co-operation between Latin America and the Caribbean and the developing countries and regions of Africa and Asia. The economic crisis which the region is experiencing, the high external debt and the protectionism practiced by the developed centres makes it necessary to strengthen the economic links among the countries of the region in order to remedy the deterioration in the role they play in the world economy and to revitalize their economic and social development. To this end, support will be provided to the region's integration and co-operation arrangements, as well as to the countries, in particular the less developed countries, so that they may participate more effectively in those processes. In addition, consideration will be given to the way in which services relate to regional integration and co-operation. The other field of action covered by the subprogramme is horizontal co-operation with other developing countries and regions - a field in which studies carried out with the Economic Commission for
